Danielle's Story, 18 Years Later

"I came from an abusive home where the definition of love looked much different. In many ways, the volunteers at PRCE demonstrated my first true understanding of what love is.

I remember being scared and newly homeless at 4 months pregnant. I was promptly kicked out of my grandma's home for being unwed and pregnant and unwilling to place my baby for adoption or have an abortion...I also had to drop out of school halfway through my senior year.

I didn't know what to do or who to call. So I called my former youth pastors...She immediately sprung into action...She asked where are you? Are you safe? Stay right there, I'm coming to get you. And she did. She knew about PRCE and took me there the next day. Volunteers at the center went above and beyond...Shortly after I was given a free ultrasound. When I showed that first picture of my son to my grandma, I was allowed to return to her home.

But the love didn't end there. I was provided with parenting classes, Bible studies, formula, clothing, baby furniture, diapers, and even fellowship...all at absolutely no cost to me until my son was one year old. But again, the love didn't end there.

I've kept contact with a couple of the ladies from the center over the years. They've cheered me and my son along the whole way often giving words of encouragement and reiterating how proud they are of us. It was my great honor to have these women at my son's 18th birthday party. With everything stacked against us, our story could have ended much differently. It's because of their love that I was capable of being a good mother at only 18. I wasn't perfect, but my son told me that he likes me, and that's a great compliment. I'm so happy I chose him."

A Message from Our Center Director

Maegan Ramirez

Maegan Ramirez,
Center Director

Sadly, there is a new back-alley abortion method, which is the medical abortion or the abortion pill. A woman can have an at-home abortion without anyone knowing, without ever seeing a doctor, and without knowing the gestational age of her baby; she is truly alone. They are told not to tell anyone, even if they need to go to the ER. The battle for life isn't over - it's now online and evolving. Online pills do not have FDA regulation, so what a woman receives is unknown (Before You Decide, p. 20)

My experience meeting with clients one-on-one is that they are terrified, they can't see a way out and that fear is targeted by online sellers of the abortion pill. Our mission statement starts with "upholding life by demonstrating the love of Christ." Having a baby is scary even under the best of circumstances and the clients that come to us are dealing with the worst. At the center, we offer a way through with hope. We have seen, numerous times, lives restored and abundantly blessed when God is involved and support is given. Coming up on our 30th year, we have the honor of watching former clients make a positive impact. They are leaders in their churches and in our community; they are teachers, small business owners, and their children are going to college! They are everyday miracles God is using to further His kingdom. Imagine what another 30 years will look like! Thank you and God bless you for your support of this life-affirming ministry, where miracles are made possible.

Thank You!

Welcome Ana, Rachel, Kristine, & Adreana!
Please keep these ladies in your prayers.

Our Billboard!

Another miracle! We were blessed to have funding for our billboard, which replaced the "abortions in New York billboard" on I-10 and Main in Baytown. It ran for seven months and brought abortion-minded clients to our center for help.
